WOODMEN AT PENSACOLA

As Ocala has a large Woodmen camp, the biggest lodge in the city, and as there are many other camps in the radius of the Star's subscription list, we consider the following report by Chas. E. Harris of the Star office one of the most interesting things we can print:

District Encampment of the Uniform Rank

One of the greatest weeks for the Uniform Rank Woodmen of the World of the 10th district, was the one spent in Pensacola from August 7 to 12, the event being the tenth district encampment of the Uniform Rank, composed of companies from Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

Co. "H," 30th regiment, attached to Fort King camp, W. O. W., was represented at the encampment by Quartermaster Sergeant F. J. Burden and Captain Harris. The two gentlemen mentioned left for Pensacola on the afternoon of August 5th and reached their destination at 10:45 on the morning of the 6th. Upon their arrival at the Gulf City they repaired at once to the camp ground, which was located at Palmetto Beach, a resort midway between the city and Fort Barrancas.

On reaching the camp ground they found that with the exception of three officers, Col. G. A. Younger of Birmingham, Col. C. D. Mills of Jacksonville, and Maj. Ragland of Dothan, Ala., no other delegation had arrived. Capt. Harris immediately reported their arrival to Col. Younger, the post adjutant, and was assigned to the superintending of the erection of the canvas, assisted by Maj. Ragland and Sergeant Burden.

Sunday afternoon, August 6th, a special train from Birmingham arrived bringing about thirty companies from Alabama, composed of the 26th and 133rd regiments, a few unattached organizations and the boys handed from the Alabama Industrial Institute. Sunday night and Monday morning two companies from Florida, namely, Jacksonville and Noma, and several companies from Georgia arrived, bringing the numerical strength of the camp up to between six and seven hundred. Gen. Nall, commanding the brigade and his staff also arrived on the special train.

Just before the arrival of the Alabama companies at the camp ground a severe rain and wind storm broke over that section of the state and using a slang expression "it was some rain and wind storm." This lasted for about two hours in the midst of which the boys reached camp and had to take shelter wherever possible. A greater part of the tents already up were blown down and water was standing everywhere, but in spite of the heavy rain, Captain Harris kept the contracting crew erecting canvas and raising those blown down until by dark enough tents were up to take care of the majority of the boys; the others made themselves comfortable in the big pavilion, which was used for a mess hall.

Monday morning dawned "bleak and dreary," and about seven o'clock the rain began again and it was not long until in some parts of the camp water was standing seven or eight inches deep. Here again the Ocala representatives played an important roll and got the boys fixed comfortable again, when Captain Harris mustered a squad of shovels and assisted by Maj. Dacy, of Alabama, put the boys to doing some ditching, which was new to the majority of the men present. This was perhaps the most uncomfortable feature of the camp, but the boys were willing and eager to learn all that was possible of soldiering and all the ups and downs that go with it, and so earnestly did they apply themselves to ditching that the camp was as dry as a bone within a few hours. With the tents properly drained, and the weather clearing, "everybody was happy and the goose hung high."

Monday afternoon the camp was officially opened by Col. C. D. Mills, and the men and officers welcomed by the mayor of Pensacola. Thereafter a strict military schedule was carried out in the camp and the real soldiering began, and he it said to the credit of the Uniform Rank W. O. W., every man present entered into the game with the determination to play it to the letter—and they did, with but one or two exceptions.

By Tuesday the encampment was in full swing and after all the companies had been properly registered and the unattached organizations assigned to a provisional regiment, Capt. Harris awoke to the fact that he had been attached to brigade headquarters as "handy man of all work," and one of the three official judges of the competitive drills, etc., while Sergeant Burden, the only member of his command present, had been "gobbled up" by Maj. Ragland, commanding the First Battalion of the 133rd, as acting sergeant major, hence the Ocala representatives found themselves with plenty of work to keep them amused, from early morning until taps, and sometimes after.

Wednesday morning after guard-mount, which was held at nine each morning, there were no military formations except camp inspection and company drill, until dress parade in the afternoon at five. This formation, which was followed by retreat, always attracted a crowd of visitors from the city who came to witness what is considered by many the prettiest and most inspiring formation of the day in a military camp.

Wednesday night the big W. O. W. parade was held in the city, followed by a big ball at the hall of Old Hickory camp of Pensacola. On this occasion the Ocala delegation was on the job, Sergeant Burden taking his official place as a sergeant major and Capt. Harris commanding Co. "D," 82nd regiment, whose captain was acting colonel of the provisional regiment.

Thursday morning was given over to the regular camp routine. Immediately after dinner the judges, Maj. Pinder and Maj. Ragland of Alabama, and Capt. Harris of this city, began to pass upon the company competitive drills. Five companies were judged that afternoon and two Friday morning, which completed that part of the schedule. Friday afternoon following dress parade the final competition took place, the individual drill, in which as many as five men from each company could enter. This was quite a contested event and much interest was manifested in it.

Saturday, the last day of the camp, was a busy one for those in charge. In the morning at 10 o'clock the prizes were awarded; the companies passed in review before Gen. Nall, and the post flag dropped for the last time, after which ceremony Col. Mills declared the camp officially closed.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

Alabama captured three first prizes in the company competitive drills, leading in classes A, B and C; Georgia one second and Florida one third and one second in classes A and C, respectively. The first prize for camp discipline went to Florida, being won by a member of the Noma company, the second and third to Alabama. In the guard duty contest, the first prize went to Alabama, while both the second and third went to Georgia. Alabama won all three of the medals in the individual contests, two of them going to members of the Anniston company.

Following the official closing of the camp lunch was served to those who wished it and the companies began leaving for the city preparatory to returning home. Every afternoon train leaving Pensacola carried its quota of U. R. boys. The Alabama contingent left on its special train at 3:30 Saturday afternoon. The last company to leave the city was Co. F, 163rd, of Amistion, Ala., which departed on the 10:30 train Saturday night.

During the week each of the Pensacola W. O. W. camps entertained in honor of the visiting choppers and several dances were given at the big pavilion at Palmetto Beach.

The encampment this year was undoubtedly a success which bids fair for the holding of one next year in spite of the fact that next summer the national encampment will be held, which by the way, the four leading prize winners at this year's camp will attend with all expenses paid.

At the encampment Alabama was represented in the majority, Georgia second and Florida in the minority. With a view to building up and strengthening the uniform rank in this section of the state in order that at the next district encampment Florida will have a good representation, Capt. Harris, of Co. "H" has obtained permission from the assistant adjutant general to form the companies in this section of the state not attached to complete regiments, into a battalion, or perhaps a regiment, and he says that in the near future he will take the matter up with the companies now organized. He will also look into the matter of helping any camp that desires to form a company. The U. R. is a great asset to the order and every camp that possibly can should have a company enrolled in the uniform rank.

ONLY FLORIDA TOWN WITH A TEXTILE INDUSTRY

We note in the Textile Blue Book, which publishes all the textile industries of America, that Ocala is shown as the only city in Florida that has such an industry. This gives Ocala a world wide advertisement. George Giles, the president of the Ocala Knitting Mill, showed us a letter from a large firm in Le Caire, Alexandria, asking for an agency for the sale of the mill's product.

We understand that the superintendent of the knitting mill is now visiting a number of spinning plants, getting up data with the view of putting in such a plant in connection with the knitting mill. We hope the time is not far distant when we will be wearing goods made from Marion county grown cotton.

CALLS FOR A CORRECTION

Editor Star: In your weekly issue of Friday, 18 inst, you make the statement that Mr. Catts with a high-priced manager, expensive headquarters, must have a robust campaign fund, and in all probability is being financed by the Guardians of Liberty, who are doing their best to defeat Woodrow Wilson and will vote for republican electors in the national election.

It seems to me that these statements are rather extravagant to say the least. If you will go to Jacksonville and visit the Catts headquarters you will find the floors bare, with few cheap chairs. Three or four tables without covers, the typewriter and two or three men and one or two women, none of whom have drawn a cent except the typewriter.

Compare, if you please, this headquarters with the large spacious rooms, beautiful plush carpets and rugs, mahogany desks, large comfortable desk chairs, etc., at Mr. Knott's headquarters.

The Guardians of Liberty are contributing nicely to Mr. Catts' campaign fund, but not nearly so much as is going in from hundreds who are not members of the organization.

Some six weeks ago I received several letters and saw quite a number of men who told me that, Mr. Knott's friends were industriously circulating the statement to the effect that both Mr. Catts and the Guardians of Liberty were going to knife Mr. Wilson and try and land Florida in the republican column. I believed that this was being done for the sole purpose of trying to draw votes from Mr. Catts and create sympathy for Mr. Knott.

Knowing the sentiment of our organization in Florida, we proposed a statement which was published over my signature as State Guardian and J. V. Burke, as state secretary, to the effect that of the ninety per cent. of democrats in our state organization that to a man they were doing all they could not only for Mr. Wilson's election, but also for every democratic nominee in Florida.

The other ten per cent. who were not democrats would support their choice, as they have a right to do. I have been voting for 24 years, during that time I have not failed to vote in every democratic primary and general election and I have never bolted a democratic nominee.

If any democrat in Florida has a better record than this it is only because he is older than I.

Mr. Editor, I am sure you do not wish to do any one an injustice, and until you know of some Guardian of Liberty who is a democrat fighting Mr. Wilson, I hope you will not again make the charge, that we are working for his defeat. J. S. Blitch

Mr. Blitch can obtain space in the Star at any time, and anyone whose actions the Star comments on is always entitled to a reply.

We have never seen the headquarters of either Mr. Catts or Mr. Knott, but we are perfectly willing to take Mr. Blitch's word for the condition of either or both. However, we must remind Mr. Blitch of one thing: Goode Guerry, one of the smartest newspaper men in the state, is publicity manager for Catts. Mr. Guerry can obtain a good salary from any leading newspaper in Florida any time he is willing to take a position with one. We are quite sure he isn't working for his health, neither is he working for his love of Catts. We doubt that he is working for a cent less than $50 a week. And he is placed.

THE VALUE OF ANYTHING IS ACCORDING TO WHAT IT ACCOMPLISHES.

Kissimmee, Fla.—"The value of any medicine is according to what it accomplishes for the patient. I have had bad health, and the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Pleasant Pellets is more than I can state. I had been in an exceedingly run-down condition, resulting from chills, fever and ague. Had very little ambition for work or pleasure.

I was so tired that life itself was a burden. My stomach was deranged, too, and appetite gone, and the nerves were in such an irritable shape that I could not stand any noise or bad news, even the familiar noise on our farm would set my nerves quivering; and to make bad matters worse, I was in the 'change,' with much of the nervous, unpleasant and uncomfortable features that occur at this precarious time of a woman's life. The 'Favorite Prescription' was what I needed and was what brought the best of changes in my general health. My liver and bowels were benefited by using the 'Pellets.'—Mrs. J. A. Hicks, Railroad St.

Middle aged women about to experience that dreaded change of life, should profit by the experience of thousands of noble women who have gone through the same period with little or no pain, misery or discomfort.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is and has been for nearly 50 years just the medicine. It is not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper; it's a temperance medicine, a glyceric extract from roots. Not only does it build up the entire system and make it strong and vigorous enough to withstand the organic disturbances, but it has a quieting effect upon the female organism.

ing a considerable amount of advertising for Catts. We think that when Mr. Blitch takes these things into consideration he will be able to see that the Star has some grounds for its remarks.

Getting to Know the President.

President Wilson has been coming closer and closer to the American people in the past few months. His western tour did much to bring home the human side of his nature to the great Mississippi valley. It was not a political tour; it was the journey of a citizen who had forgotten himself and his own concerns in his sense of a great need and his enthusiasm for a great movement. The impression made by his direct, forceful, informal talks on that tour was great.

The president did not discuss any public question, except by implication. But that is not the point. The people need to know, not the president's views alone, but the way he does his thinking, the temper of the man. Lincoln's stories were good stories—but they had a value at the time of the telling which went far beyond their illustrative relation to the subjects he discussed. They told the nation not only what Lincoln thought, but how he thought; they passed like an electric spark between him and millions. Such talks help the people to get acquainted with the president. And the sense of acquaintanceship, while not its aid in the books of political science as a factor in democratic government, is an element of priceless value.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it.

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.
